Dear Jack:

Many thanks for your letter of 7 October.

As I told you over the telephone, I regret that I am unable to accept your invitation to speak before your law student body. However, I hope to find my commitments such that I will be able to attend one of the annual Law Day sessions at a later date.

The Sullivan/Crosswell party that Arthur Dunn gives every year is indeed an enjoyable occasion and I hope to see you at the next one.

With kindest personal regards,

Sincerely,

Dear Allen:

Referring to our telephone conversation of the other day, I am certainly sorry that you can't come down to talk to our Duke Law student body.

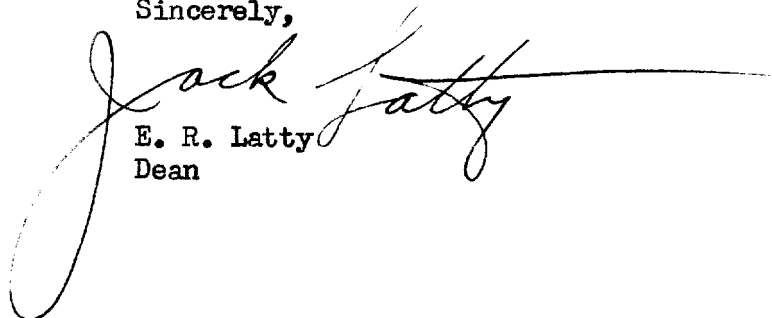

I know very well how full your schedule is and how numerous are the demands for you as a speaker.

Nevertheless, one of these days we want to have you here at the Duke Law School as the main speaker of our annual Law Day occasion, which usually takes place the last Saturday of April or the first Saturday of May. I am speaking not so much about this year but for a later year and I hope that for old time's sake you will succumb to our blandishments.

Maybe we can both make Arthur Dean's annual Sullivan Cromwell party this year.

Sincerely,

E. R. Latty
Dean
